Refinance: what lenders ask for

Donnie is our online AI assistant, not a person.

Print it, then tick each box as you gather it. Every box ticked, and you are ready to apply.

The kit you already own, or are still paying for, can release money back into the business. Lenders lend against the kit itself, so the more they can see of it, the faster the whole thing moves, whether it is one vehicle or a whole fleet.

About the kit

- [ ] Photos of each one, all the way round.
- [ ] A photo of each serial number, chassis number or VIN plate.
- [ ] The mileage or hours on each.
- [ ] The original purchase invoices.
- [ ] For anything still on finance, a settlement figure from the lender it is with.

About the business

- [ ] Your last 3 months of business bank statements.
- [ ] Your last 2 years of accounts. If your latest accounts are getting old, up-to-date figures from your accountant help a lot.

About the people

- [ ] Photo ID for each owner or director: a passport or a driving licence.
- [ ] Proof of home address for each owner or director.

And what we need to start: nothing at all. A first conversation costs you nothing and needs no paperwork. If you want to go further, we will ask for the documents above, and for your go-ahead before we approach any lender.
